SITUATION SUMMARY

SBA Offers Disaster Assistance to California Small Businesses Economically Impacted by the 2015 Dungeness Crab Season Delay and Rock Crab Fishery Closure

- The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) is offering low-interest federal disaster loans to California small businesses that have suffered financial losses due to the ocean conditions resulting in the delayed Commercial Dungeness Crab Season that was set to open on November 15, 2015, and the November 6 closure of the Commercial Rock Crab Fishery that is normally open year-round, SBA Administrator Maria Contreras-Sweet announced today.
- By declaring a disaster, Administrator Contreras-Sweet's action makes low-interest Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDL) available immediately to help meet financial needs caused by the Commercial Dungeness Crab Season delay and the closure of the Commercial Rock Crab Fishery. SBA acted under its own authority to declare a disaster following a request SBA received on January 27, 2016, from Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr.'s designated representative, Mark S. Ghilarducci, director of the Governor's Office of Emergency Services.
- The declaration covers the primary California counties of Alameda, Butte, Contra Costa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Humboldt, Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Nevada, San Francisco, San Luis Obispo, San Mateo, Santa Cruz and Sonoma, and the neighboring counties of Alpine, Amador, Colusa, Glenn, Kern, Kings, Monterey, Napa, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, San Benito, San Joaquin, Santa Barbara, Santa Clara, Sierra, Siskiyou, Solano, Stanislaus, Sutter, Tehama, Trinity, Yolo and Yuba in California; Douglas and Washoe counties in Nevada; and Curry and Josephine counties in Oregon.

Super Bowl 50

- Super Bowl 50 activities have started in both San Francisco and San Jose as of 01/30/16, with major city road closures in San Francisco and minimal road closures in San Jose.
- The NFL Experience and Super Bowl City open in San Francisco. There will be numerous events occurring in the city through 02/07/16 (Super Bowl 50), including concerts and other large scale events.
- There are numerous events occurring in Santa Clara County.
- There are two multi discipline/multi jurisdiction conference calls daily, at 0700 hours and 1500 hours.
- San Francisco Department of Emergency Management (SF DEM) is activated from 1100 hours to 2300 hours at level 3 every day starting 01/30/16 and ending on 02/07/16.
- Santa Clara is activated with a Multi Agency Coordination Group (MACG) from 02/05/16 through 02/07/16.
- There are multiple other Departmental Operations Centers (DOCs) and local EOCs activating including a Joint Information Center (JIC).
- The Cal OES Law Branch, Cal OES Fire Branch, Cal OES Coastal Region, and Cal OES Telecommunications staff are actively monitoring and physically supporting all Super Bowl 50 events leading up to and including Game Day.
- Law Branch is monitoring scheduled protests.
- Cal OES agency representatives (AREPS) are embedded in various Local Government Operations Centers in the Bay Area.

SITUATION SUMMARY

Weather of Concern

Northern California

- High pressure building over the west coast will bring fair skies and well above normal temperatures over the next 7 to 10 days.
- The only real threat of precipitation looks like Friday night over the far north state as a weak weather system rides over the west coast ridge and into the Pacific Northwest. Near record high temperatures will be possible.

Southern California

- Locally gusty Santa Ana winds will strengthen Friday and remain moderate to locally strong into early next week.
- Building high pressure aloft and persistent and strengthening offshore flow will result in a warming trend into next week.
- Highs likely to reach 5 to 15 degrees above normal by Sunday.
- Predominately clear skies except for occasional passing high clouds through the weekend.

River Forecasts

As of 1855 hours on 02/04/16:

- All River Guidance (Flood Forecast) Points are currently below critical stages.

- SOC / Inland REOC remains activated in support of 2014 Drought

Super Bowl 50 Weather Situational Awareness

In collaboration with local, state and federal partners, the San Francisco Bay Area National Weather Service (NWS) Weather Forecast Office (WFO) will provide enhanced decision support services to Emergency Management partners in support of their public safety efforts around the National Football League's (NFL) Super Bowl 50 and events leading up to the NFL championship game being held at Levi's Stadium in Santa Clara, California.

We will continue to send out a morning email briefing to serve as a broad weather outlook for the greater San Francisco Bay Area through at least Feb 8. If updates are made, an afternoon email briefing will also be issued. Additional forecast briefings will be disseminated based on partner request and/or weather demands.

Weather Summary

- A flat ridge of high pressure will be in place Friday and Saturday delivering dry conditions and seasonal temperatures. Storm systems passing to the north will spread mid and high clouds at times but no rain into the Bay Area. High pressure will strengthen over the weekend promoting sunny skies and a strong warming trend with highs warming into the upper 60s to mid 70s for Sunday and Monday. Our main concerns will be dangerous beach conditions with a larger swell moving towards the coast that will produce high surf today and then rip currents and a large shore break threat into the weekend. There is a high confidence at this time that dry and very warm conditions will set up across the area for the weekend and into Monday.
- Minimal weather impacts expected through the weekend.
- Dangerous Beach Conditions: High surf is expected at the area beaches through Friday morning then a heightened threat of rip currents and large shore break Friday afternoon through Sunday. With the near record highs and many visitors to the area, there will be a concern for dangerous beach conditions.

7 Day Area Forecast for the Greater San Francisco Bay Area

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA

High pressure will build over portions of Northern California today and produce dry and mild weather with light north to east winds. A weak frontal system moving through the Pacific northwest will brush the northwest and northern end of the region late Friday into early Saturday, with only scattered light rain showers expected there. Elsewhere, dry and mild weather will continue Friday and Saturday with variable high cloudiness. The high will strengthen back over the entire region Sunday through the middle of next week and produce dry and warmer weather with mostly clear skies. Temperatures will rise to 10-15 degrees above normal and north to east winds will gust to 25-35 mph from the western Sierra slopes to the coast into the middle of next week with this pattern.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

A weak ridge of high pressure over California will bring near normal temperatures to the region today, with mid 40s to mid 50s across the mountains and 60s to low 70s in the valleys. Minimum humidity will be mainly between 12% and 25% across Southern California and above 30% across Central California today. Winds will be mainly northwest to northeast 5 to 15 mph. A strong surface high will form over the Great Basin causing offshore winds to increase to 15 to 30 mph with gusts to 50 mph across the mountains and below the canyons and passes of Southern California tonight through Tuesday morning. The ridge aloft over California will also strengthen bringing significant warming to the region Friday through early next week. Maximum temperatures in the 80s will be common across the lower elevations of Southern California Sunday through early next week. Widespread minimum humidity in the single digits and teens will occur away from the Central Valley Sunday through the middle of next week. Temperatures will cool a couple degrees and winds will become light Wednesday as the strong ridge of high pressure aloft starts to weaken.
